

Your secret ary X3

your secretary's identities are here are just a few of the many and countless.

some i did not write about at length include:
owner of several FAKE TEETH, amateur taxidermist, crushmaster extraordinaire, bad dancer, nail biter, zine maker, kid sister, daughter of an ^{artist} artist, daddy's little girl, bigmouth, EXTROVERT, mix tape savant, good kisser, swatch collector... a lot more...

♥ and thanks to: ALEX and anyone who's artwork i appropriated for this zine.

here be coney
dogs

midwesterner & michigan gambler & detroiter

who would i be if i had not been raised under the albatross of white flight in a post-industrial greying city? i feel defined by the glass-filled urban prairie and hopeful hopelessness of my hometown. a cynic and a lover and a fighter a rulebreaker, lawless a builder and broken.

four eyes

once dan and i went sledding and these little kids called us four-eyed faggots!" when we approached them the smallest one shouted, "we weren't talking to you!" dan pretended to look around before saying, "well, i don't see any other four-eyed faggots you could be talking to."

i have always worn glasses, never contacts.

FEMME

more as a fashion than anything else, this is just how i feel comfortable. my friends register legit shock when i wear pants it happens so rarely, once when someone told me, "i am not into what you are," referring to my femme identity i procured a "butch" shirt, it was plaid and had puffy sleeves. HA!

DIABETIC

better not tell me what i can eat or i might bite you.

RINK RAT

as a child i spent every weekend and most weekdays at my local roller rink, speed skating and scarfing down cheese nachos.

bff

kirstin once said to me "you have so many best friends

i can't keep track, i could be a professional best friend.

buaa

which means "father's sister" in hindi and which is what my nephews deven, kaelen, and janak call me.

RELUCTANT ACADEMIC

SCREW the hierarchy of the ivory
tower, but... uh...
yeah i'm in grad school.

Just don't say this in a room full of librarians,
but i knew early on library work was not for me.

INFORMATION
SCIENTIST

though sometimes post-queer when the word seems academic or merely a fashion. queer because there are more than two genders and because who the hell knows who i will be attracted to or have a crush on ~~her~~ or fall for next. queer because i am not a lesbian, but probably (maybe) won't be in a "straight" relationship again. queer because it is political ~~and~~ because "normal" is boring boring boring.

Single

this goes hand-in-hand with my identity as COUPLE CURMUDG-EON while i know some awesome and lovely couples i also see people ~~surrender~~ parts of themselves, especially their autonomy to be a part of a twosome.

also, it is difficult for me to care about another person in that ♡♡♡ special ♡♡♡ way it makes me anxious beyond belief. so far, i have just not been my best person as part of a couple.

i am singular,
solo.

BOG

MAMA

it never goes over well when i say i am not a cat person. it isn't that i dislike cats or people with cats, i just am not, nor do i want to be "with cat" my family had dogs and i have carried on this tradition. luckily, i have the handsomest, sweetest dog,

ERASMUS!

((ok, i had cats once and it was a bad scene
not to be repeated))

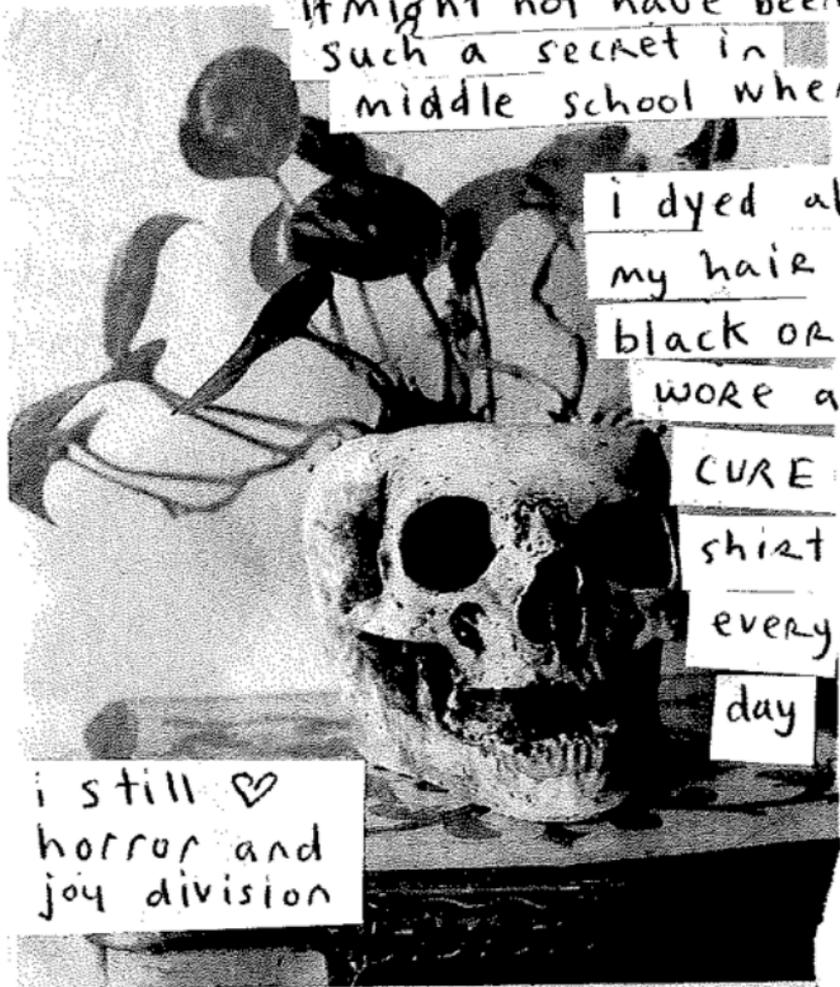

secretly goth

it might not have been such a secret in middle school when i dyed all

my hair black or wore a

CURE
shirt every day

i still ♥ horror and joy division

So i'm loud and obnoxious

TROUBLE MAKER!

and sometimes start shit.

i am not sorry.
(most of the time)

~~2~~

fatty cakes

fatty
cakes

When i say i'm fat, don't say "no you're not" it is so insulting i am not looking for compliments OR putting myself down. fat is hot! and normal and natural and okay, get it?

Storjyteller

Dead Father, Chicago. This person, Heek, Cuddle Queer. Trans. Faggot. Butch. Food. Southern Polite.

Glasses. Country bumpkin overalls.

Hello

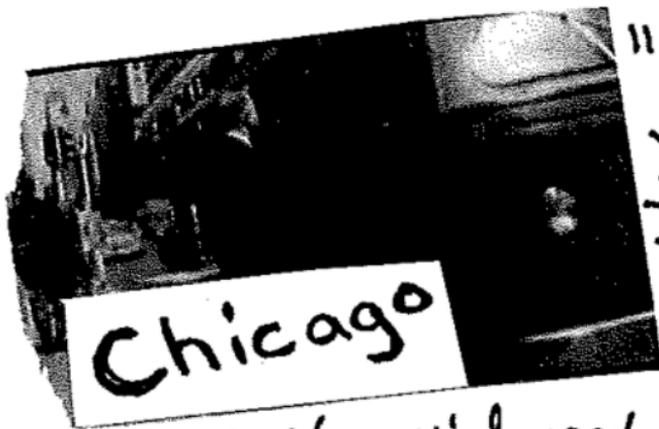

My name is Alex and I do not identify as a zinester. This is the first and probably only. I often find myself conversing about various identities and what they mean. Hence this zine dedicated to a select few of the many. Enjoy!

HEELS

I identify as someone who really likes when people wear heels, well.

I also like how they sound clicking across the floor.

HEAD OVER HEELS

"Where are you from?
I am from the south and the east and the midwest. I identify as being from Chicago. I have done a lot of growing here, more so than anywhere else.

Seeing as I have moved here three times now, that must say something about the pull of this big dirty city.

In response to the right wing conservative ex gay testimonials, I have decided to write my own. I used to be gay, but have been queer for quite some time now and I have never felt better. Queer to me is radical, and new, and ever changing. Queer for me is a multi layered identity ~~as~~ followed by endless possibilities. All of the others united. ~~which~~ I don't want to be like straight people, I don't want to get married. I value community over finding "the one." Queer means everything and nothing, it's what you make it.

QUEER

WELCOME!

Thank you!
You are welcome!

When describing my manners I often claim to be somewhat of a southern gentleman. My dad would decide how he felt about a person based on their thank you's or lack thereof.

B ABY

am the youngest child of four and the

B oy youngest of all my friends. I have never dated anyone younger than myself. Being an enthusiastic 18 years old when I moved to Chicago made it impossible for me to not be the baby queer. Times are changing and there is a new influx of queers younger than I. But I will always be baby boy.

F O O D

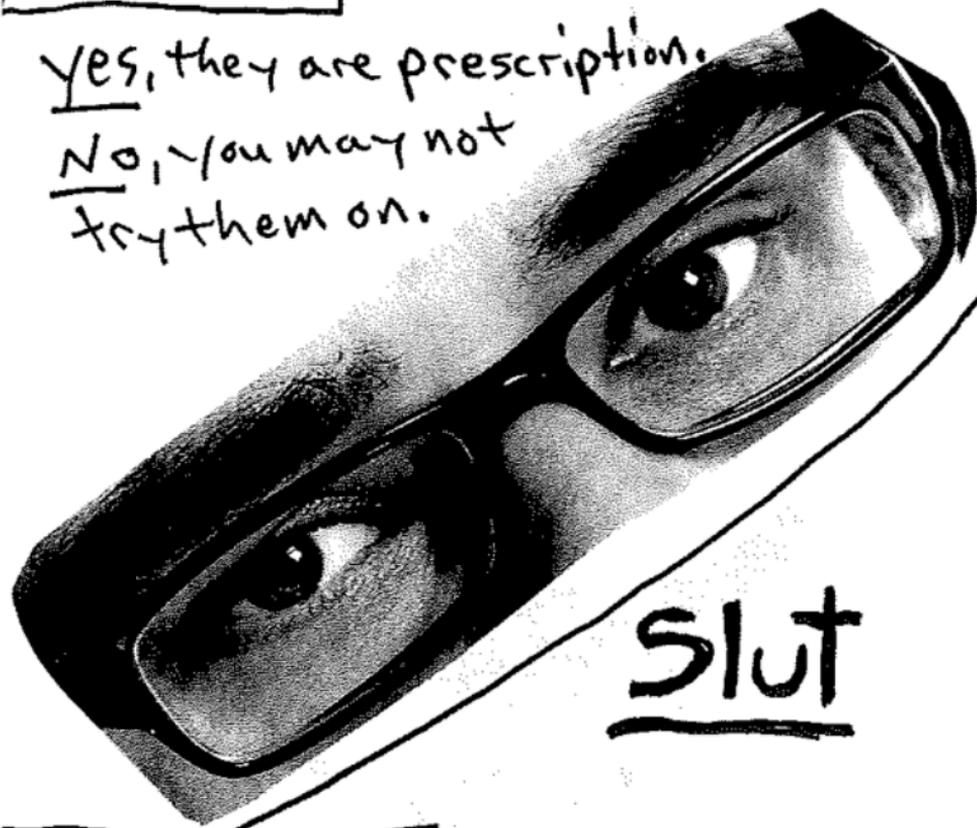

I really like food, a lot. I also really like people who really like food. I don't know how to cook for less than six people.

Glasses

Yes, they are prescription.

No, you may not try them on.

Slut

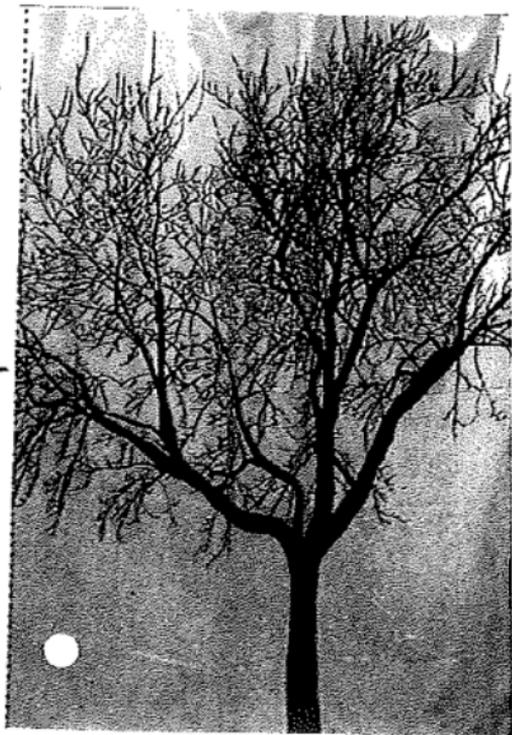

Sex
positive!

Country Bumpkin (in theory)

I escaped Chicago & Brooklyn by fleeing to the country. It was beautiful, quiet, and allowed me to get my life on track. I dug a garden & bought a subaru.

I wore my overalls often and drank by the fire. While I've realized I have more kickstoget out in the city, I cannot wait until I've settled down enough to really enjoy country!

KINKY

Switch!

PERVE

When I was 19 I dated a femme top, it felt like I had arrived. At the Femme conference in Seattle I attended the queer as fuck play party and knew I had found my people.

TRY SOMETHING NEW IN BED!

I jokingly compare vanilla lesbian sex to a kitten licking milk. Sad but true.

This Person

The hardest identity to write about, yet one of the most important. When writing a craigslist ad for a roommate Jami referred to me as a trans man. To which I protested "No! Person! Say trans person!" My lack of solidarity with men combined with not feeling like a woman leaves me with an identity of personhood. Here's to all my people in between, smashing the binary, blah, blah, blah.

F A G G V

B U T E H

You know, butch in that gay femme sort of way.

Post Riot Grrrl

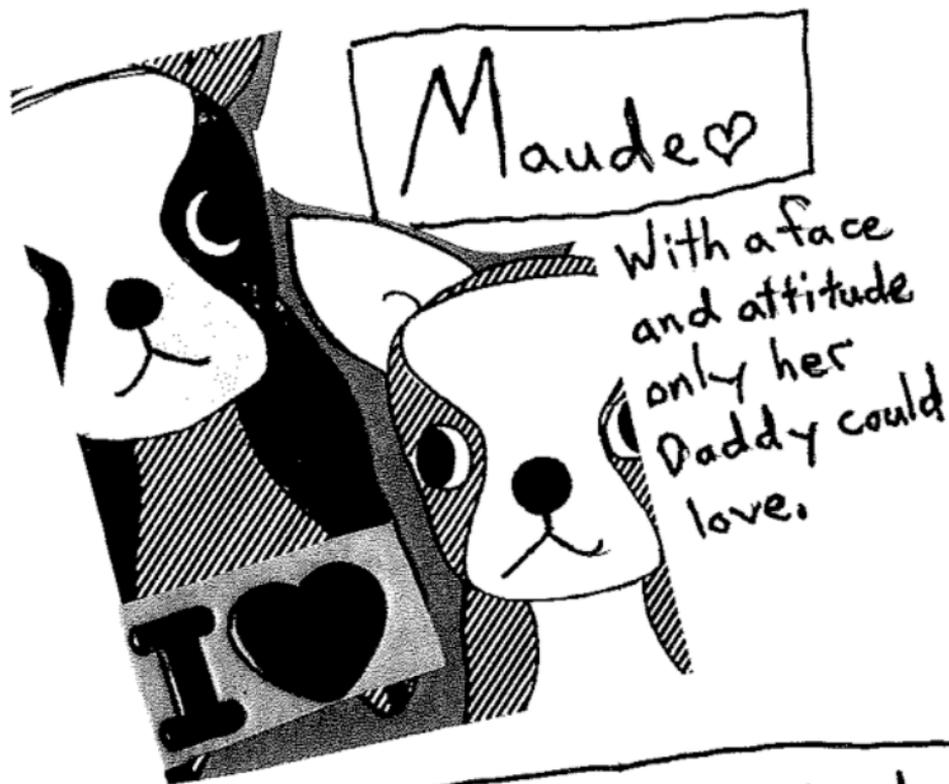

I used to think I was a riot grrrl. I have since realized I am too young to have ever actually been one. It is the thought that counts.

Working Class

I have been told I have a chip on my shoulder when it comes to class.

You are correct.

Southern I may not have lived here for long, but it is in my blood, manners, and eating habits.

Y'all

DEAD FATHERS

John Grady Fullerton

Entered This Life

May 7, 1952 - Birmingham, Alabama

Entered Eternal Life

December 29, 1999 - Flint, Michigan

al Oc

y, Mic

ome

Dead Fathers club | We tend to find each other. I find other people with a similar loss comforting. I wouldn't wish it on anyone, but it's hard to take advice from someone who hasn't.

One more for the road:

Anti-cuddle

I've been known to talk a big game about being cold, distant, anti-cuddle.

The truth is I am more like a Koala bear and the poor fool next to me is the tree.

Thank you Jami for convincing me this was a good idea, and for popping my zine cherry.